RESULT OF PRIMARY VOTE

Little Interest Displayed and Light Vote Cast—Conn Leads in Number of Votes Received.

Only 113 votes were polled at yesterday's primary. Through a misunderstanding the voters of the fourth ward balloted only on the candidates from their own ward, although they were entitled to vote on two from each ward.

The vote was as follows: J. T. Conn 98, W. G. Currie, 96; C. M. Chauncey, 3; A. M. Croxton, 89; C. T. Angtl, 92; J. C. Cates, 94; D. J. Austin, 93; E. W. Hardin, 93; H. B. Roach, 92; Geo. Thompson, 49; T. W. Chadwick, 7. C. M. Chauncey received two votes in the first ward and one in the third. Dr. Chadwick received one in the first one in the third and five in the fourth. This of course makes the two last named the nominees of the republicans. By wards the vote of the other candidates was as follows:

	1st	2d	3rd	4th
J. T. Conn	32	28	38
W. G. Currie	29	28	39
A. M. Croxton	28	27	34

D. J. Austin	28	27	38

4,000 TEACHERS GATHER AT OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, Dec. 29.—Almost three thousand had enrolled at the headquarters of the State Teachers' association, Thursday night, and they were still coming. Just what the total attendance is probably never will be known, but it must be in the neighborhood of four thousand, at the very least. All of the departmental meetings were crowded Thursday morning and the auditorium was comfortably filled Thursday afternoon, even after many who came simply to hear Speaker Champ Clark had departed.

President Thomas W. Butcher of Enid delivered his annual address and was followed by four twelve-minute papers as follows: "Technical Education," J. H. Connell; "Professional Training for Teachers," President Charles Evans of the Central State normal, Edmond; "The Diploma's Demand," Dean J. C. Monnet, acting president of the State university; "Economy in Educational Affairs," State Superintendent R. H. Wilson.

The principal address of the session was delivered by Dr. George F. James, dean of the school of education, University of Minnesota, who is one of the possibilities for president of the University of Oklahoma. Dr. James has made an exceedingly favorable impression on the teachers during his stay in the city, and his address was full of good, wholesome advice along educational lines.

At the meeting of the county superintendents held Thursday morning a resolution of "appreciation and confidence" was unanimously passed, relative to the work accomplished by State Superintendent R. H. Wilson during the year.

JOHNSON DECLARES WAR ON INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson is out with a pamphlet in which he exposes some of the rottennesses of the Interior Department in a manner that will certainly cause a shaking up of the dry bones. Of course all who gave the matter any thought knew that Johnson was fired from the service at the dictation of the liquor interests because he was doing his work only too well and was giving the Indians some real service, instead of plundering them as was the custom of most officials to whom such opportunity came. With the big vote it controls, the Taft administration simply could not turn down the demand of the whisky crowd for Johnson's scalp. However, it is likely to prove a boomerang, for Johnson is an extremely lively corpse and his pamphlet will prove a fine piece of campaign literature during the next presidential campaign.

LARGE CROWD HEARS CHAMP CLARK SPEAK

Oklahoma City, Ok., Dec. 29.—What is said to have been the largest crowd ever assembled in the Oklahoma City auditorium with the exception of that greeting W. J. Bryan when he spoke for the adoption of the Oklahoma Constitution four years ago sat and stood before Champ Clark speaker of the national house of representatives tonight while he discussed the tariff for nearly two hours. The audience was estimated in excess of five thousand.

Seated on the stage were Gov. Cruce, Justices Williams and Turner of the Oklahoma Supreme court, C. B. Ames of the supreme court commission, a number of other state officials and local democrats. The speech was along the same lines as that delivered in Guthrie last night, dealing entirely with the tariff as the paramount issue in the impending presidential campaign, which the speaker reiterated would be the issue irrespective of the efforts to sidetrack it.

Party Must Keep Promises.

He also declared while here that the democratic or any political party expecting to win by the people's suffrage must keep its promises made before election. The fact that republicans did not do so with respect to the promised revision of the tariff downward he said, was the salient reason for them losing the house of representatives last year.

In the last few years, the Speaker said, there has been in progress a silent political revolution, which was about to culminate in repudiation of the party that had been responsible for a condition against which the people had reason to complain. President Taft, he said, he admired, but thought he was unfortunate, and had been worse treated by his friends than any other man in public life. The Taft administration, the speaker said, would soon pass away, that to the gaze of men it already had the appearance of a dissolving view. The people are entitled to be treated with candor and courageously, he said, entitled "to that square deal of which we hear so much and see so little."

The statement of the president when he signed the Payne bill that the law was only a partial redemption of the party promises, the speaker said, was one of the greatest truths ever uttered, and the visit Taft made to Winona when he declared the Payne law to be the "best tariff law ever written," he said, was the most unfortunate trip any president ever took.

Dissolution of Partnership.

The firm of Ellsworth & Tanner, publishers and printers, has been dissolved, A. D. Tanner, Sr., assuming all outstanding obligations. All accounts due the old firm are payable to him.

The county attorney of Greer county states that the prosecution of bootleggers in that county yields a handsome profit. According to his figures the county cleared $1,400 over all expenses last year, to say nothing of some excellent work done on the roads by the prisoners.

The reception given Champ Clark at all points in Oklahoma is enough to give other aspirants for the presidency several fits of buckague, for none of them ever received such a hearty welcome as the big Missourian has at every turn. Oklahoma will certainly send a Clark delegation to the national convention.

G. A. Smith, editor of the Chandler Tribune, is one of the loudest and most prominent advocates of the Aiken bill. It may be only a coincidence, but it is a trifle singular to note that Smith is an appointee of Governor Cruce he having been appointed to the office of tax assessor of Lincoln county. Evidently he wishes to stand in with the powers that be.

Government Ownership.

This city owns its own waterworks, costing more than a million and a half dollars, also owns its own sewer plant as well as electric light plant. All three give general satisfaction. The city also maintains a very efficient and well equipped fire department.

A BAD DAY ON BOOTLEGGER SUSPECTS

This has been a bad day for accused bootleggers. Four of them have been interviewed by Judge Barton and all are still enjoying the hospitality of the county. Will Blankenship of Stonewall, was offered his liberty on making the usual bond for second time offenders, $1,000, and a negro by the name of Stevens, also from Stonewall, being a chronic offender was offered his release in exchange for a good bond for $2,000, but neither of them has yet succeeded in making it.

Six cases were filed against Chas. Hill and J. W. Alsmen of Vanoss, who were accused of breaking into the depot and making way with five cases of liquor. Their bonds were fixed at $1,000 each in two cases, and $350 each in the other four.

Teachers Opposed to Aiken Bill

Profs. A. Floyd and T. F. Pierce returned today from the meeting of the state teachers' association at Oklahoma City. Mr. Floyd states that a large majority of the teachers attending the meeting are opposed to the Aiken bill and will use their influence against it. He says that the election of the president of the organization is not to be construed as a slap at Supt. Wilson, but was due principally to the work of the county superintendents who desired to see one of their number thus honored, and since they controlled the election of delegates in most counties, it was an easy matter to win out in this race.

Winter Preparations of Garden Soils.

We constantly hear the cry of winter preparation of soil for farm crops but neglect the garden spot on account, I presume, of its smallness. The truckers, it is hoped, take advantage of fall plowing.

Manure your soil, plow it, and where not too late plant some cover crop such as rye, winter oats or wheat in case of ground which you expect to plant very early in the spring, especially in the wet sections of the state, it is desirable to throw the soil up in beds and leave it this way during the winter. These beds will dry out quicker in the spring and enable you to prepare and plant earlier than you would otherwise be able to do.

This winter plowing will kill out many insects, especially the cut worms, and retain more water, improve the physical condition of the soil, and make more food material available.

A PLEA FOR OKLAHOMA SCHOOLS

Ada, Okla., Dec. 29.

Editor Evening News.

The thing of most vital importance to public welfare of the Oklahoma citizenship has at last fallen a victim to the onslaught of political differences. Men who stand upon the same political platform seem determined to draw the school of the great state of Oklahoma under their wings either to smother them or make them stronger and better. It seems strange that economy for public gain can be brought about by striking the death knell of one single institution within the state. Economy in other ways too numerous to mention in this article can be brought about in a way that would reduce the taxes without making the schools the target by which the death blow will be dealt to the democratic party in this state. The churches had as well be brought into question, closed and hammered down as to force upon the magnanimous people of Oklahoma, public bat harbors in the place of the great public edifices of learning to which every patriotic Oklahoman should point with pride. The normal schools of the state would not be a burden if the lands set apart the revenue of which goes to support those institutions were made more profitable. The district A. and M. schools are minor burdens and if all of them are enjoying the patronage that the Murray school at Tishomingo has this year, they are beneficial beyond question of a few paltry dollars. The school of mines who in this state would take from those who labor through the day for maintenance and go to school in the evening. No man of sound judgment would advocate such a thing. It is true our state university should be supported, but not at the expense of abolishing a single school in the state. By wiping fourteen schools off the map so to speak and throwing their support around a state university a school so to speak for the classes and not the masses, we would build one of the most gigantic political machines any state has ever known. Take the schools out of politics and educate the rising generation. Maintain every school and build more if necessary.

J. G. BUCHANAN.

A LIVELY TIME AT SOCIALIST CONVENTION

Oklahoma City, Dec. 29.—Fighting tooth and nail for what they claim is one of the greatest principles of socialism, the minority went down in defeat at the state socialist convention Thursday.

The battle started over a proposed amendment to the constitution of the state party, which removes the source of power from the state organization and places it in the hands of the county organizations. This action was approved in a committee report but was opposed by a minority report of the committee also made to the convention.

The consideration of the two reports immediately caused a storm of debate, which grew in intensity as it progressed and continued until late in the afternoon. Point of order after point of order was made and some objection was made to many of the delegates speaking several times on the same question but the protestants were promptly called down by Chairman A. A. Bagwell who stated that he would deny "no comrade the right to be heard."

The point raised by the majority was that the report of the committee attempts to place the business in the party in the control of the individual instead of in the control of the entire whole of the state organization and it is a step toward individualism the very thing that the socialist party is fighting.

The report of the committee will be referred to the voters of the party and will be rejected or accepted by a referendum vote, according to custom.

The consideration of the constitution will be resumed Friday, and it is expected that it will not be finished before the afternoon, the document being read and discussed section by section. It has now been about half read. The only action to be taken by the convention will be advisory, the rejection or adoption of the constitution as approved being left to a referendum vote.
